

Investment banking Traineeship (Antwerp)

About Kempen

Kempen is the investment bank of Van Lanschot and the bank of choice for clients in our selected niches and activities. The investment bank's offering consists of asset management, securities brokerage and corporate finance. Within securities, Kempen's Local Alpha team provides equity research services on a wide range of sectors and companies with a predominant focus on the Benelux.

Job description

Do you have deep interest in investment banking and equity markets and are you up for the challenge? Apply now and become a part of the Belgian Securities and Sales team during 2 to 4 months.

Application for Summer 2021 is currently open. We are looking for interns for the period of July – September (or longer).

The Securities Research team is continuously looking for talented students for full time internships for periods of 2 up to 4 months in which interns carry out macro, sector and company analysis in co-operations with our research analysts. The output of such studies is immediately used for our research reports which are sent to our institutional clients. During the intensive 2-4 month internship, you will become acquainted with the basics of the investment banking business and develop financial modeling, analysis and valuation skills. Top performing interns may receive an offer to join us as a full-time analyst.

Who are we looking for?

Van Lanschot Kempen seeks university students with ambition, drive and proven talent. Whilst an economic background is not a prerequisite, stamina and interest in the financial sector are. Kempen & Co requires its analysts to rise to the challenge, and our interns are no exception. Are you results-oriented, driven, an entrepreneur and customizable? Do you think you fit in our organization and do you want to take the challenge? Check your profile:

- Master degree or a finished Bachelor (finance, economics, econometrics have proven to be very helpful, not necessarily required though);
- Affinity with financial markets & analytically strong, but also a team player and go-getter
- Structured, factual and objective communication;
- Excellent grades.

What do we offer?

At Van Lanschot Kempen, we value our people. From the minute you join us, we will challenge you to make a difference. Throughout your internship, you will receive personal support and guidance to ensure that your internship offers you a myriad of opportunities. If you are able to seize these opportunities, an internship at Van Lanschot Kempen can be an excellent stepping stone towards a rewarding career! In addition, we offer competitive internship compensation and a wide range of personal and professional training opportunities. We invest in our professionals and value and support our people.
